Dr. A. E. ARCHER
... Dies at Lamont.

Noted Lamont

WINDSOR, Ont., May 23.—(CP)—A shotgun blast at close range through a kitchen window early Sunday fatally wounded William Allen, 37-year-old inspector at Ford Motor Company of Canada and native of Edmonton.

Allen's wife told police she heard a shot at seven o'clock and saw her husband alone in the kitchen and went to look in his room. She found her 18-year-old daughter, Leslie, alone in bed and her husband lying dead on the floor. She was about to sit down to bed-breakfast.

The shotgun pellets, fired by a man who was seen to enter the back door, struck the window or a rainwater spout, ripped into the face of Allen's face and head, and he died within the week.

nearly 400 injured today from a series of tornadoes that battered four states.

This information will be given to the city council this evening in a report from the city commissioners.

Before negotiations can be completed it is essential that a formal option to purchase the property on the civic center at 100 street and 103 avenue be granted to the company, and that terms and conditions of sale be distinctly stated in that option.

FORMING AT TIME

A thunderstorm was raging and a mob attracted little attention from neighbors, who apparently took it for a thunderclap.

But Mrs. Allen took the gun-belt from her father's back to the street and held it while she and her husband slumped to the ground. Blood streamed from his forehead.

The woman screamed. Her cries were the loudest in the crowd.

Twenty-one of the victims were killed at Cape Guardavie, Mo., and two fatalities occurred in the quick succession. More than 43 persons were injured and 43 homes were wrecked or damaged.

SIX MILLION LOSS

Property damage throughout the four-state area was estimated at $5,000,000.

Some 11 communities were hit. More than 100,000 were out of the skies Saturday night. Nearly 10,000 soldiers, worked 12 hours

By way of guarantee, a credit of $2,000,000 is to be deposited in a chartered bank in Edmonton at the time of commencement of construction of the hotel.

This credit will be used solely in payment for work on construction.

CAME WEST IN 1903

A graduate of University of Toronto, Dr. Archer joined the staff of Hamilton City Hospital in 1902, promising to Alberta a year later. He set up private practice in the city of Star, which was the town centre in the Lamont area at that time.

Eight years later, Dr. Archer supervised building of a 16-bed hospital at Lamont, where he has been

TWO INJURED IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

Minor injuries were reported in two week-end traffic accidents here.

Little Diana Jamieson, 110 avenue, sustained bruises when knocked from her bike by a car yesterday.

Fred Myrdal, 12409 67 street, was released from Royal Alex yesterday after receiving treatment for minor bruises received when he fell from a wagon.

The horses, apparently frightened by traffic, were driven by Don Ross, 12409 67 street.

Parking Fines May Be Upped

Motorists parking in truck-loading zones and bus stops will have to pay a $5 fine for these infractions instead of the present $1 if a recommendation of the city commissioners is accepted by city council.

Commissioners, making the recommendation, report that a great number of complaints have been received from various sources that private cars are stopping in truck-loading zones and at bus stops with the result that no area is available for truck loading, and buses cannot get sufficient space in which to load and unload passengers.

Most people, the commissioners point out, seem to think that if they remain in their car they are not committing an offence against the parking bylaw.

This is a misinterpretation of the bylaw provision, commissioners state.

Special Events to Open 1949 Playground Season

Edmonton's 1949 playground season opens tomorrow with children's parades, organized games and special teas.

The city of Edmonton recreation commission in co-operation with the local gyro club and community leagues will operate 15 playgrounds and eight tot lots this year.

For 15 weeks, until Sept. 5, youngsters will be able to play in grounds provided with full-time leadership and supervision.

Monday through Friday until June 24, playgrounds will be supervised from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. on Saturdays and holidays, hours will be from 10 to 12 noon, 2 to 5 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m.

From June 25 through to the end of the season supervisors will be on duty each day, Monday through Saturday, 10 to 12 noon, 2 to 5 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m.

SPECIAL EVENTS PLANNED

Programs of athletics, games, handicrafts, and many special events are being planned.

This season, greater areas will be directed to community leaders. Through this the Recreation Commission hopes to encourage additional participation and increased community acceptance of its program.

Such acceptance, they feel, should attract more volunteer leadership. To serve the community adequately the Commission adds, individual playground programs must be geared to meet the needs, resources and facilities available in the area.

INGENUITY IMPORTANT

Only with full cooperation of staff, coordination of planning and a clear definition of objective, will this be possible.

With this aim in view, however, the commission is endeavoring to institute an effective program within the scope of available facilities and at a level acceptable to various

VOICE CHANGES BUT SINGING IS STILL FUN

COLDWATER, Mich., May 23.—(UP)—Fin H. Gipsman, 83, says he has as much fun singing in the church choir today as he did 75 years ago.

Members of the Coldwater Congregational Church believe that the 83-year-old former music teacher has the richest baritone voice in the choir.

He began singing in the alto section of the chorus when he was seven years old and switched to the bass section when his voice changed a few years later.

New Violence In Berlin

BERLIN, May 23.—(UP)—The western military commandants notified the west Berlin administration today that it could occupy strikebound elevated railway stations where such violence occurred as that which has rocked the city for three days.

Commanders of the American, British and French garrisons here acted after a new flurry of disorders. The trouble today was on a scale far below that of the two previous days in which one person was killed and some 1,200 were injured.

The city government was told that it would be given "prompt" permission to take over control at stations hit by new violence. The decision was made after two special meetings of the commandants. It was a compromise to a city government request for authority to occupy all elevated stations in west Berlin.

SIMPLIFY-ED ENGLISH DEvised IN BOSTON

BOSTON, May 23.—(UP)—A new language called "simplify-ed English" has been designed by a 30-year-old Boston bachelor who has made a living as an inventor, mechanical designer, musician and necktie manufacturer.

All Flumedoros say it only will be a few years before all persons who come to the United States from foreign countries such as displaced persons and students will speak his simplify-ed English.

Flumedoros's English eliminates almost all the rules of English you learned in school.

He says it can be learned in a day, but it took him five years and about $5,000 to develop it.

Here's a sample of simplify-ed English:

"I am not the number of words-and exceptions to rules."

Briefly, Flumedoros's version of the "King's English" does away with irregular verbs. There is only one set of personal pronouns, a single plural form for nouns, some simplified spelling and a few other things, which Flumedoros calls "distinctive improvements."

Huge Wind Tunnel To Test Missiles

Handles Continuous Blasts At 4 Times Speed of Sound

By Gardner Jones

ROSEMOUNT, Minn., May 23.—(UP)—University of Minnesota scientists are sending high-velocity blasts aturing through what will be the world's greatest sustained-speed wind tunnel.

The tunnel's makers believe it yet, he said, but the examination is a good precaution and they may reveal things medical scientists have found yet.

Supersonic probably will be the color of the tunnel; it hasn't been painted that yet but the university plans to turn down John Hopkins, its sometimes controversial interior decorator, on the Rosemont project.

Hopkins believes in painting hospital elevators red. He plans to splash yellow and gun metal colors around the tunnel laboratory.

"I will not interfere," Ackerman said.

They will be called Ann, Mary and Sheila. Officials said mother and babies are doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. McClintock, who have lived here for a year, also have a son, aged four.

PEOPLE ALWAYS CURIOUS ABOUT THE WEATHER

NEW YORK, May 23.—(UP)—An average of 46,500 persons call the New York Telephone Company's weather service each day to hear the recorded forecast. The calls reached their peak on last August 26, when 178,230 calls were received about the 100-degree heat.

An analysis of the calls shows that there are more calls in summer than winter, none on Friday than any other day and more between 4 and 5 p.m. than any other hour.

Art Gallery Stand Decided

CALGARY, May 23.—(CP)—The services of the National Art Gallery of Canada should be extended so that all Canadians may be able to take advantage of its services and not just those who live in or journey to the capital at Ottawa.

This recommendation will be made to the Royal Commission on Education, Scientific and Cultural Affairs, appointed by the federal government and headed by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, when it holds its sessions in Calgary next September.

The decision was reached at the two-day annual convention held in Calgary Saturday and Sunday at which A. F. Key, director of the Allied Arts Centre in this city, was appointed director of the Western Canada Art Circuit for 1946-50.

Twelve delegates were present, representing one of the art centres in Western Canada, from Winnipeg to Victoria.

Next annual meeting will be held in Edmonton, it was decided.

Canadian Chemists To Meet In Halifax

OTTAWA, May 23.—(CP)—The Chemical Institute of Canada will hold its 22nd annual conference in Halifax May 30 to June 1, with about 400 delegates from all parts of Canada attending. It was announced yesterday.

Dr. T. Thorvaldson of the University of Saskatchewan will be a main speaker.

Plenty of Zest Marks Newfoundland Politics

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 23.—(CP)—Newfoundland—a stranger to party politics for 17 years—is proving a politician's paradise.

This island province's first Canadian election campaign is featured by such things as flags and bonfires, the blast of whistling guns, roadside ovations and large turnouts at meetings.

Newfoundland returned to party politics with a bang. When mainland politicians arrived for campaign meetings they headed hordes to find everywhere from archbishops to grandmothers on hand to hear them.

The crowds turned out en masse to see such men as Progressive Conservative leader Drew, and Health Minister Martin. Motorcades swept through sleepy villages by day and night. Farmers, fishermen and miners with their wives and children, stood by their doors to see them pass.

The party bigwig stepped from their cars at many places to talk with the people, who were being wooed for Newfoundland's first provincial election May 27, not to mention the Federal election June 27.

For Newfoundlanders, it is politically like a deluge after a drought. Following their last choice of a responsible government in 1932, they had never voted for anything until they were asked to decide a new form of government in 1946. Eventually that led to confederation.

Party politics had fallen by the wayside. Their return found thousands of voters cramming the halls. Often they rode on trucks or rowed in boats for miles to get to meetings. Partisans on both sides of the fence say that the intense interest holds well for their particular party when the voters go to the polls Friday.

Americans Know About Our Oil But Little of Canada

By Stan Burke

Bulletin Staff Reporter

"Headin' for Edmonton, eh? Quite an oil boom on there, I hear. . . Say what kind of a place is that anyway? Sort of like Alaska? I mean a territory, like."

This remark by a service station operator at Cie Elum, Washington, seems to pretty well sum up the average American's knowledge, if any, of Edmonton.

At least that is the opinion recorded by this reporter during a week's sweep through the northwest states.

ONE DIFFERENCE Oil has put Edmonton on the map—just like Saudi Arabia. Only difference is that Life has done a full-color feature on the Saudi's wonderful wasteland while Edmonton has so far been snubbed by the noted picture people.

And, of course, if you want to become famous in the Land of the Free, you must hit either Life or the famous papers.

"I'm going to Edmonton," I said, replying to the question of whether you can get to it at Cie Elum, Washington.

"Where's that?" "In Alberta."

"Where's that?" "It's one of the western provinces of Canada—like a state."

Pause.

THAT STOPS HIM "Do you know where Canada is?" I said, beating her to the punch. She obviously resisted the tactic. After due consideration, she poked a tentative finger to the west.

Well, it was a good try anyhow. Publicity would also appear to be in order on the promontory of "Leduc." There seems to be some divergence of opinion on this point among the minority of the U.S. public who have heard of our pure-warming, pride-and-joy oil-field.

"Leduc" appears to be favored by the largest segment, but "Leduc" also has strong support. In spite of the average citizen's shocking lack of knowledge and/or, horror—interest in the intimate details of Edmonton, there are business men from coast to coast who can curl their tongues around "sub-continental" and "ID" as well as any Alberta oil tycoon.

OIL THEIR INTEREST But they aren't really interested in our city. They have probably never heard of Jasper Avenue and don't care if they never do. They are just curious about what might be 5,000 feet underneath it.

Out at the coast, information about Edmonton is slightly better than in the States, but not a lot. They don't know how big the city is—except that it is smaller than Vancouver, of course.

DDT Declared Menace To Many Wild Creatures

By Alton L. Blakeslee
NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Birds, bees, fish, crabs and other useful life are being slaughtered by the waste use of DDT and other insecticides, the National Audubon Society said in a report released yesterday.

By wrong use it is meant using too much of these poisons, or in the wrong places. Highly used, DDT and other insecticides are potent and safe weapons against insect enemies.

The Audubon Society now reports examples of this danger when heavy amounts of the new poisons are used in outdoor areas.

"With the expanding use of such poisons, increasingly serious damage can be expected unless great care is taken in dosing and spraying," said John H. Baker, society president. "These new insecticides include DDT, DIOX, TUPP, and chlorinated compounds.

"These toxic agents in heavy applications not only kill birds and fish, but lead to heavy destruction of bees and other insects valued by farmers and fruit growers. Land fertility may also be affected. With the spring spraying season at hand, the situation is urgent. It concerns human welfare as well as wildlife."

Tests by the U.S. fish and wildlife service have shown how and in what concentration DDT may safely be used. Other agencies have not yet been fully tested. Some of the more deadly than DDT to bird-blooded animals.

Jewish China Refugees Arrive in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, May 23.—(CP)—Green was the color of freedom for 59 Jewish refugees who arrived here Saturday from the war-stricken city of Shanghai.

While Communist forces moved great fire, smoke-screened the city, the refugees marveled at the "green" of Vancouver.

"The trees are the most beautiful thing I have ever seen," said an attractive Vietnamese woman. "I never thought I would ever see green like that again on earth."

FLIGHT NOTHING NEW
The group of 43 men, 27 women and nine children stepped off the Seattle plane weary from their long trans-Pacific plane flight. But flight was nothing new for them; they have been fleeing from one terror to another for the last 12 years.

Now they hoped their long exodus was ended.

Pleased for their stories the tragic group spoke haltingly—sometimes in Yiddish, sometimes in English—of Hitler's gas chambers, chains and bondage and never believe it... you can't even imagine it," they said.

William Pollak spoke of Dachau where he spent several months. "There were 40,000 Jews in there when I came and 400 when I left."

TWICE BUILT HOME
When he finally got his freedom, Pollak and his wife left for India only to find war was imminent and they could not enter.

They went on to Hong Kong and arrived there at the outbreak of war. They were interned. Upon release their new home was destroyed. And they were forced to flee to Shanghai.

Twice they built homes in this city.

X-Ray System May Aid Cancer Fight

Photographing Stomachs May Save Thousands of Lives

CHICAGO, May 23.—(BUP)—Photofluorography, an X-ray procedure, may prove to be valuable in saving the lives of thousands of stomach cancer victims, according to an article in the American Journal of Roentgenology and Radium Therapy.

"The incidence of cancer of the digestive tract is distressingly high," the article said. Approximately 10,000 men and 42,000 women above the age of 40 develop gastrointestinal cancer each year in the United States. Of these, almost 60 per cent die within one year of the time that diagnosis is made.

HEAVY DEATH TOLL
"Moreover, those individuals who do not survive the disease comprise nearly one-half of the deaths resulting from all types of cancer, and five per cent of the deaths occurring from any cause."

The article also pointed out that the average length of life following recognition of the disease is one year and eight months, regardless of the type of treatment.

The only promising form of treatment available today is surgery. But surgery is successful only when the disease is detected in its early stages before the symptoms appear, according to Dr. John F. Roach, Robert D. Cloan and Russell H. Morgan, who wrote the article.

MAY BE ANSWER
The doctors, who are staff members of Johns Hopkins Hospital's radiology department in Baltimore, Md., stated that "methods may be developed whereby large segments of the population may be examined at regular intervals to find the symptoms, yet positive, case."

The photofluorographic process may be the answer, they said.

This process has been successful in detecting early stages of tuberculosis. To determine whether it can be used in spotting early stomach cancer, a pilot survey has been established at the Baltimore hospital.

All male patients above the age of 40 admitted to the hospital's dispensary outpatient clinic will be examined for the next five years.

The study limits patients above the age of 40 because the incidence of gastric cancer in individuals below that age is negligible.

Victory Predicted By St. Laurent

Drew Loose Fresh Blast At Gov't Trade Policies

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

A prediction by Prime Minister St. Laurent that his Liberal supporters will be returned to power with a larger majority headlined the week-end campaign for Canada's June 27 federal election.

It was Mr. St. Laurent's first outright prediction of victory thus far in the campaign, now three weeks old. Previously, he had indicated his belief that if the Liberals did not win a majority in the voting, then no party could win a majority. He made the forecast in a 25-minute speech-making tour along the fertile farming belt of the lower St. Lawrence south shore as he continued his campaign in the key province of Quebec after a two-week swing through the maritimes.

PROFITS TAX PROMISED

As the prime minister toured the familiar ground of his native province, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, opened a fresh blast on the government's trade policies in a speech at Metcalfe, Ont., and M. J. Goldwell, CCF leader, promised at Sydney, N.S., that a CCF government would reimpose excess profits taxes.

Solon Louis, Social Credit leader, was en route to western Canada for a second campaign there after a few days in the vicinity of Ottawa. He has not yet visited the Maritimes.

NO ELABORATION

Mr. St. Laurent did not elaborate on his election-outcome prediction, except to say that the basic domestic policy of a new Liberal government will be employment for workers, markets for producers and "equality of chances in life."

In the last house, there were 122 Liberals against a combined opposition of 120—a working majority of five. There were 243 members in the old house. The new house will seat 262, including seven new members from the new province of Newfoundland and another 10 for new ridings created since the 1946 election.

Mr. Drew, speaking in the Ottawa district town of Metcalfe before heading west to open a long prairie campaign, accused Mr. St. Laurent and Trade Minister Howe of making statements on foreign trade which have "no relation to the facts" and quoted figures showing a $51,000,000 drop in Canada's balance of trade.

TRADE ACTION POLICY
A Progressive Conservative government, he promised, would take "immediate steps" to recapture and expand the country's sagging overseas markets and to put the Canadian dollar "on its feet."

When wheat were grown that year. In the bumper crop year of 1942 the return was 25 bushels to the acre—a total of 294,000,000 bushels.

JUROR'S PAY DOESN'T PAY

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., May 23.—(UPI)—Mrs. Mary Alvin of Scarville was excused from jury duty when she explained the $3 a day she paid for a baby sitter for her three children exceeded a juror's pay by $2.

Publicity Stressed For Canada Trade

LONDON, May 23.—(CP)—Trade tip for British exporters who want to sell cutlery in Canada: watch your publicity. Miss Marguerite Lea Winsor, back in Britain after establishing an office in Montreal, says Canadians are easily influenced by advertising.

"For instance," she said, "they will not look at English table knives with plain handles because they are smart and up-to-date."

Miss Winsor is a former British civil servant. She now heads a cutlery and spoon-making fabric.

When wheat were grown that year. In the bumper crop year of 1942 the return was 25 bushels to the acre—a total of 294,000,000 bushels.

PROTEST ACTION by several property owners on the site of a Vancouver housing development started last week after a bulldozer tore up a 15-tree cherry orchard. "Picket line" of owners and neighbors is shown on the remains of the cherry trees. Property has been expropriated by the government but there are several hold-outs who are objecting to the price offered for the land, and the method of dividing lots. Bulldozer was halted by the display.

Soil Conservation Work May Get Stiff '49 Test

REGINA, May 23.—(CP)—The careful work of soil experts to prevent recurrence of the dusty '30s may be tested this year.

Leading prairie agriculturists say that although periods of drought may recur, the destructive soil drifting of the 1930s that turned much of Saskatchewan into a wasteland of sand dunes is being controlled to a great extent by strip-farming and irrigation. The test may come in 1949, for Saskatchewan's farms need rain. Last week's heavy showers weren't enough.

GOOD START ASSURED
As a result of a dry spring, western crop conditions looked poor little more than a week ago. Drought predictions were voiced that the "bad" year of 1930 would be repeated, but early last week rain swept over most of the province and brought immediate improvement in the outlook. A good start for crops was assured.

The spectre of a drought year had not been lifted, but the outlook is more promising than it was 10 days ago. Says G. N. Denike, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Swift Current: "We could very easily be on the verge of a repetition of the '30s. If we don't get 1½ inches of rain in the next few weeks, a serious condition may result."

FARMERS MOVED
Swift Current is in the heart of the 15,000,000 acres of loam soil in Saskatchewan's southwest that took the worst beating in the dry 1930s. The light-textured soil area extends along the southwest corner of the province from Estevan into Alberta and is bounded on the northwest by the Saskatchewan River.

In the last decade the number of Saskatchewan farmers has dropped from 140,000 to 125,000. Many left in the "bad years." Federal and provincial government assistance was given to a large resettling of drought-ridden families in the Meadow Lake district of northwest Saskatchewan. About 180 families were transferred to rolling hills. Alia, in the irrigated district west of Medicine Hat.

LAND RECLAIMED
Much of the land which in the 1930s became a rolling ocean of sand has been reclaimed. Since 1927 seventy-six community pastures have been formed of sub-marginal land and nearly 1,500,000 acres have been covered with firm, tyrotyred wheat grass. Small-farm irrigation projects have been undertaken. Strip farming also has become more extensive, serving as a safeguard against drifting soil.

L. B. Thomson, director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, says: "Less than five per cent of the prairie crop acreage has suffered seriously so far this year from soil drifting. The fellows that vent through those grim times of the '30s have learned to practise careful farming methods."

The "grim times" include 1937 when Saskatchewan's farms produced the all-time low average of 27 bushels of wheat to the acre. Only 26,000,000 bushels of wheat were grown that year. In the bumper crop year of 1942 the return was 25 bushels to the acre—a total of 294,000,000 bushels.

MOHAMED LOSES BID TO REMAIN

MONTREAL, May 23.—(CP)—Mohamed Bourras, self-styled Algerian beggar, picked up here several weeks ago as a combined stowaway and deserter from a British merchant ship, has lost his appeal to remain in Canada. Calgary Blaze Kills Woman

CALGARY, May 23.—(CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Drinkwater, 47-year-old widow, was overcome by smoke in her bungalow late Saturday night, and died in hospital shortly after midnight. The dense smoke, which filled the small house, came from a burning chestfield chair which is believed to have caught fire from a smoldering cigarette butt.

The woman's body was found lying in a hallway connecting the bedroom and a back bathroom, by Capt. William Hobb and R. R. Cyr, of the Calgary fire department, who answered the fire alarm turned in at 11:28 p.m. by a neighbor. Mrs. Drinkwater was alone in the house.

The chestfield chair was destroyed and the north wall of the living room and the floor were ablaze when firemen arrived. An inquest will be held although no death has been set.

New plans for increasing production made the move necessary.

Motorists Get Break On Pumps

DOVER, N.H., May 23.—(UP)—Motorists who bought gasoline in Dover filling stations had almost as even chance of getting more motor fuel than they paid for. That was until the city sealer of weights and measures, Arthur J. Mayo, made a check-up. He discovered half of the gasoline pumps were measuring fuel incorrectly, of the inaccurate pumps, 85 per cent were delivering kingpin gallons.

Lacombe Centenarian Still Remains Active

LACOMBE, May 23.—Harmon Zelle, of the Iowa district adjacent to Lacombe celebrated his 100th birthday on Saturday, May 21. Mr. Zelle is a clear-headed and active man with snowy hair and a lot of reading with him.

Mr. Zelle was born in Titusville, Pa., on May 21, 1849. He remembers the first oil struck in Pennsylvania, still one of the oil-producing states in the union. His memories reach Abraham Lincoln on an electrifying campaign while still in Titusville, and of the sorrow that spread across the nation in 1865 at the news of Lincoln's assassination.

At LACOMBE SINCE 1901
Mr. Zelle recalls that day well for it was the time the family made a move to Ohio. They moved to Iowa in 1887, and finally to Lacombe in 1901, where the oil-miner has resided since.

He was named by Mrs. Sam Gibson in those early days, he recalls, because five families, all from the state of Iowa, settled in the district about the same time Mr. Zelle did. The name "Zelle" was combined with the abbreviation "Alta" to make "Jovella".

In more modern days Mr. Zelle calls on a remarkable memory to prove his interesting and enlightening. He regrets the present period of lack of rain holding him back from doing his annual garden chores.

He makes regular visits to Lacombe, often when his white hair seems a trim, to come to town unless there's something to do. Perhaps his due to the fact that he has lived here since he was a young man. He did a little stock raising in the early days, but at 90 he never makes his secret formula is a good clean life. Mr. Zelle has never smoked, and his "never" had a banking for liquor, to quote his own phrase.

At 90, he's probably the oldest person on record to give away a bride. This happened last year when he gave away Clara Fritzel, a friend from Lacombe at a wedding in the Calgary.

The Robert centenarian had the pleasure of being reunited with the surviving members of his family. He has big 1000 birthday on Saturday.

FAMILY PRESENT
The eldest daughter, Mrs. R. F. King of Newburg, Oregon, was here, also J. Howard Zelle, 65, from Long Beach, Calif., with his family. Then there's Charlie, 67, with whom he stays and Mrs. Percy Fritzel, 67, a member of the family, who resides just three miles west in the same district.

There are four generations in the Zelle family in all four directions. Mr. Zelle has nine grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Howard W. Smith of Idlewood adjudicated the choral speech and plays, while Professor Hodges of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, gave convocation numbers. R. B. San Hamby, superintendent of schools, Grande Prairie, adjudicated the public speaking and also acted as chairman.

Approximately 400 children were in attendance under the capable supervision of their respective teachers.

Nickel Brings Dollars to Canada

Since more than ninety per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is sold to the United States and other countries, it brings a constant flow of dollars back to Canada. In fact, Canada's Nickel industry is one of our chief sources of U.S. dollars so essential at the present time to maintain our foreign trade and make available products not produced in this country.

These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees, and help provide the dollars which make it possible to pay millions in freight to Canadian railways, to buy timber, steel, coal, machinery and supplies amounting to many millions each year.

These millions, flowing into all industries through the length and breadth of Canada, help create jobs for Canadians.

The Prodigal Returns ...

Cold weather or no the Big Four baseball league front figures to generate a lot more heat ... and quickly. Why? Because the prodigal has returned.

Early this morning Ed Morris, former manager of last season's champion Eskimos, stepped out of a TCA plane, almost into the waiting arms of general manager John Ducey of the same Eskimo. His re-appearance on the local scene (he'll be no more than a player under manager Ralph Morgan this time) climaxed a series of lightning Morris moves, beginning with the despatching of a telegram to Ducey early Saturday.

"Can you use me?" ran the query from Great Falls where Morris has been playing with that city's entry in the class C Pioneer league.

After conferring with manager Morgan, who's reaction was an instant "let's get a return" from Ducey opened the way for a retake of the Morris act in last season.

Next move on the part of The Poor Man's Leo Durocher was to top a plan for Edmonton. "It's great to be back," or words to that effect, was the Morris salutation as he climbed down from the aircraft that had landed him from the Montana centre to the Civic airport.

Picture of a Man Who Missed the Boat

The grin that accompanied the greeting was on the rueful side, possibly. After all Ducey had worked him over for weeks in the spring, trying to convince him that he should return after another whack as Eskimo manager. A fine business opportunity was tied in with the juicy baseball offer.

However (and it must be admitted that a fellow who has been around as long as Morris generally does what he thinks best in a case like this) the outline Texas league catcher, after first accepting terms, finally decided against coming back.

Instead he hooked up with Great Falls.

It's been several weeks now since the grapevine first carried the news that Morris was anything but a candidate for the Happiness Boys. After a great start in spring training and in the first games against Western International league clubs his hitting had fallen off.

They were using the Californian all over the infield ... at third to start, then at short, finally at first base.

Actually the wire Ducey received Saturday during the course of the Esk-Fall encounter was by no means the uprise package one might think.

The Door Was Wide Open

Anyway, a somewhat battered Morris is back in the Esk fold and his timing in the matter must be rated superb from the point of view of both sides.

Ken Samis, the veteran who has been carrying the catching load, injured a finger in Friday's series opener against the Buffs. He's scheduled to sit for the x-ray machine today to determine whether or not the digit is broken.

In any event Samis will be in dry dock for a time and off to bat he showed in a pair of Saturday-Sunday appearances against the Buffs young Bill Keeley, who took over from Samis, falls somewhat short of Big Four league leadership standards.

It follows, therefore, that Morris will be behind the dish when Eaks and Cuts thank Tuesday night, if the weatherman permits a tangle, that is.

There's no reason to believe that any embarrassment will result from the fact that since last season Morris and Morgan have switched roles, so to speak. They got along famously a year ago, with Morris frequently turning the reins to Morgan.

Yep, it's going to seem like old times again. Or haven't the umpires heard?

Ewasiuk Able Fill-In For Ted Kielbaugh

For the first couple of weeks of the season, at any rate, it appeared that if Precision Machine were going to capture the Senior Men's Pastball league it would be Ted Kielbaugh who could claim most of the credit.

For the same Mr. Kielbaugh has been responsible for four of the five victories the Precision crew has gained while keeping to the unbeaten ranks. As well, he has been the semi-solo player in complete tie games and part another.

But yesterday at the Kingsway meadow ball pasture Bill Ewasiuk stepped in for Kielbaugh. "Windmill" was not in action he could do a creditable job of filling in.

He made quite a point, too, setting down Newwood on 12 hits while his mates clinched a 3-0 victory over the Legion moundmen for 16th and made good use of six balls for a 3-0 victory.

Centrefielder Ed Selbel and second baseman Ben Brown were going to lead the Precision attack, Selbel picked up four hits, including a triple, in the five number of runs to the plate and also scored four runs. Hoff-ster had a pair of doubles in four trips and scored three times.

Control was Ewasiuk's strong point and he struck out five and didn't give up any walks.

In the other game, which was the first of the afternoon, Legionnaires Bill Wood, leading thrower in the park last year, turned in his first victory of the season in a 5-0 shutout over the visitors, but always close, Sporting Davis out-fitted.

There will be further action tonight with Northern and Southern Athletics meeting in a Senior Ladies' league game at 7:30 and Kluge and HCCP clashing in the nightcap.

Forrestal Death Mourning Ordered

Former Defence Secretary
Of U.S. Takes Own Life

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(UP)—A shocked nation today wrote "killed in action" across the name of former Defense Secretary James Forrestal, who leaped to his death from Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital early yesterday.

President Truman proclaimed a period of national mourning to last until Forrester is buried. He ordered the American flag lowered to half-staff on all public buildings, naval stations and military installations, as a symbol of the nation's

UNDER TREATMENT

The broken body of the 35-year-old New Yorker, who had been under treatment for a psychotic disorder since April 2, lay in the hospital morgue awaiting his widow's return from Paris.

Mrs. Forrestal and her elder son, Michael, 28, are expected home this morning aboard the presidential plane, the Independence, in Secretary of State Dean Rusk's last week, flew to the Big Four conference in Paris.

The Forrestals' oldest son, 19-year-old Pete, was at their Georgetown home where when the tragedy

ARRANGEMENTS PENDING

Funeral arrangements were held yesterday, but Mrs. Forestal's return is pending. She, the former secretary of the late senator, said she would leave for New York City tomorrow. Her husband's return might be expected in the next few days.

Mrs. Forestal had arrived in the city from a recent trip to Europe, where she had spent the last Friday. She had been in the city for a few days, but her husband could not convene after his release from the hospital.

But release came another way. Mrs. Forestal's husband had been in the city for a few days, but his body had broken under nine months of confinement.

Brooding alone over a passage of Greek tragic poetry shortly before 1:45 a.m. EDT, yesterday, he made his decision. The medical corpsman assigned to watch him—there had been reports of a previous suicide attempt—was surprised to be asked to assist in the execution. He bowed out as defense secretary on March 28—had gone down the stairs to the kitchen.

The windows in his 16th floor room were barred by very heavy locked screens, so he slipped across the roof and down the fire escape. He stepped through the kitchen window and down the stairs.

When the wedding will be at the Walluara City Hall.

It is not likely that the turn out will be a rustic-folk spectacle as in the best Hollywood tradition.

Probably uppermost in the minds of the guests will be the accounts of the recent royal wedding in Rome. Jobboxyers were seen right outside the city hall, and reporters were packed to see the prince and princess.

There was a mild confusion. There was a complete lack of decorum.

Jobboxyers were not so much concerned with his position as they were with the affair.

They were not in the same relationship of the Ismelli Maslenberg set.

TRADE MAN SEEKS OUTLETS IN CITY

Canada will have top priority for British export, if necessary at the expense of markets within the Iron Curtain "and other minor contracts," Rt. Hon. Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, said in an interview here at the week-end.

Main interest in his visit to Edmonton was to determine what extra could be done to supply plant and equipment for oil development and obtain a share of the agricultural implement market.

Great Britain would continue to take more wheat from Canada than before the war, Mr. Wilson admitted a contract for grain was now being negotiated with Russia, but said it was mainly for coarse grain, which would not affect Canadian wheat markets.

Canada and the United States now had world priority for export, but on his return he would urge manufacturers to make greater effort to meet Canadian orders.

This would be done not only by speeding up production of goods which Canada wanted but also by "displacement" of other minor orders.

Mr. Wilson admitted this might mean cutting down of orders to countries inside the Iron Curtain. Supply to Russia so far had been machinery prompted during the war.

No one can complain about us seeking to get markets we had before the war," he commented on a question about the Danubian basin.

The Canadian bacon contract, and the new spirit contract, negotiated privately for which the government released the money.

Nor could the UK permit "the free flow" of capital out of Britain for Canadian owners or British people wishing to settle here.

British capital for development in Canadian resources, or money for Canadian industries, "won't make sense" at the moment.

Nor could the UK permit "the free flow" of capital out of Britain for Canadian owners or British people wishing to settle here.

ARE RETURNING

Referring to "some of the cattier aspects" who had left the UK because they did not like the government, he said many were now returning, and "they don't make good settlers any more."

Increase in export to Canada probably would mean additions to the overworked United Kingdom Trade Commission staff, which had already been increased recently.

No sound industry which would produce dollars had been refused permission to open branch plants in Canada, Mr. Wilson commented in reply to a question about complaints from some British manufacturers that restrictions made it impossible for them to establish in the Dominion.

ADMITTED to Alberta bar here Saturday was J. D. Cragg of 9129 22nd street. A former courtroom aide with the Mr. Cragg is a graduate of Dalhousie Law School at Halifax, and will be associated here with firm of Milner, Steer, Dyde, Poirier, Marland and Layton.

Shrine Circus Comes to Town

Edmonton kids crowded the Exhibition grounds railroad platform yesterday as the circus came to town—trained seal and everything.

Ready to open its 35-day run at the arena tonight, the famed Shrine Circus is described this year as "better than ever." Complete with trained animals, performers on the ground and in the air, the show will feature 28 acts.

Arriving here yesterday was a special railroad car carrying the animal retinue, which will be seen at the act at Calgary.

Included among the trained animals are two elephants, six horses, ponies, chimpanzees, tricycles, riding monkeys, a trained seal, and 40 dogs. (City pound, please note).

More than 100 animals and a troupe of 55 will be featured during the 35-day Shrine show aimed to help crippled children throughout the country.

Harry Haag, owner of the elephants and monkeys, promised a good show for young and old.

"We'll have a lot of laughs for the kids too," he said. "Our specialty is entertainment for the young."

Along with the week-long nightly performances, the show will hold two afternoon matinees, Tuesday and Saturday.

Jaycees' Convention Plans Active Campaign

Scope of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is ever-widening.

Extension was the theme of open-house sessions yesterday at the regional convention at Club Roosevelt. Nearly 60 members from all parts of Alberta were in attendance at the afternoon session and dinner meeting.

Long-range program calls for organization of new units in cities and small towns, assistance of displaced persons and promotion of Canadianism.

Not was given to more oratorical exultations and citizenship awards. Suggestions were put forth that only one large money-making project be attempted each year, instead of several.

DOLLAR PLAN

Publicity will be furthered on the important American dollar conservation. Places of business will be advised of the advantage of turning American dollars back to the banks rather than returning the money to circulation.

A new campaign will advise the general public of differences between junior and senior chambers of commerce.

Need for such a campaign rests on a feeling that many people today are not aware of any distinction between the two.

Employers of Jaycee members will be notified by bulletin letter of the activities of the club, with the hope that greater interest and co-operation may result.

Importance of the exchange of ideas was the key to an address by Joe MacKenzie, western vice-president, in his after-dinner address last night.

NO SECRET

"There is no secret to successful operation of the Jaycees in Canada other than exchange of ideas," he said.

He asked that units follow a basic plan compatible with the system of national units. He stressed the need for electing able men for conducting dollar-get-out-the-vote campaigns and beautification campaigns.

Presentation of a past-president was made to Joe MacKenzie, with high tribute paid to valuable work during the past year.

Sessions continue today with reports, resolutions and election of officers. A presidents' banquet will be held tonight, with a old-time dance and barbecue at Doug Shaw's ranch.

MONKEYING AROUND for Edmonton kids who met his special circus car at the Exhibition grounds yesterday. Little fellow appears to be amusing some of crowd which saw him do a "quick act." Six-night-run and two afternoon matinees of thrilling circus will entertain all Edmontonians, as well as help crippled children across the country.

Out-of-Town Horses Take Show Honors

Brandon and Calgary exhibitors split major honors Saturday night at the closing session of the 41st annual spring show.

Lilla-Gord Stables, Brandon, captured the hunter championship of the show with Broadway Breeze, shown by Mrs. Lillian Williamson.

The Knockdown-and-Out sweepstake and the Kinnema's trophy was taken by Gay Lind, owned by it. L. Phillips, Calgary, and ridden by Miss Audrey Gardner, Col. White from the Kelvin Grove Farms Ltd., Calgary, was second, and Bonnie Darbie, from the Lilla-Gord stables third.

RIDER HURT

Miss Doris Littlewood, Calgary, escaped serious injury when thrown by the Ghost at the triple bar in this event. The horse reared at the jump, shooting Miss Littlewood over his head onto one of the bars. She was assisted from the horse, and reported later she had recovered from the effects of the fall.

Previous to the accident her Royal Mark won the riding horse class event, taking the major award from The Lilla-Gord Stables, Broadway Breeze. Manners and way of going in the show ring was the determining factor in this event.

Frank Domest's Gain Pierette won the Elmer-MacDougall challenge trophy in the open hack class with Peggy, exhibited by Dennis Routh, Bremner, placed second.

Burns and Sons, Piccadilly, won the four-hand driving class with splendidly matched Hackers driven by Bonnie Burns.

Gifford Norris, Edmonton, won the final in the musical chair contest with Dennis Routh, Bremner, taking place and Sharon Stuart, Edmonton, third place.

Glamour class championship was taken by Gloria Kline, Calgary, the reserve ribbon going to Norman Watkin, Calgary.

Broadway Breeze added to her long list of victories when the four year old mare took the Pacey Challenge trophy. Miss Littlewood's the Ghost placed second in this event, and Mrs. Kathleen Grove's Cass Haywood third.

Request for the $5,000 grant will be made to city council tonight under council's policy of grants adopted May 23, 1948.

This policy calls for payment of grant up to 25 per cent of cost when full construction is approximately 60 per cent completed.

Limit of $5,000 is placed on aid.

Building Inspector's department estimates the cost of construction of the hall at $30,000 and certifies that 60 per cent of its construction is completed.

City Commissioners recommended payment of the grant on condition that the league abide by regulations prescribed by council, and executes an agreement approved by them.
